Cancellation Policy

We understand how disappointing it is for travelers in the event they are forced to cancel their adventure, however we must continually send non-refundable payments to suppliers of transportation, boat owners and other vendors in order to guarantee your space on our trips. Therefore, we must strictly adhere to our Cancellation Policy for all travelers. We hope you understand. We strongly suggest purchasing travel insurance in case you are required to cancel your trip for ANY reason. All cancellations processed 90 days or more prior to departure will be refunded in full less the trip deposit amount (except group & outfitter bookings). Cancellations made 90 days or less prior to departure cannot be refunded for any reason. You may substitute someone to take your place on your trip or check with us to see if we have a waiting list of travelers for your trip dates. If we can substitute a guest for your trip, we will refund your trip less any booking/administrative fees and commissions incurred to sales agents.

Due to our strictly enforced cancellation policy, we strongly recommend you purchase a short-term travel insurance policy for your protection against baggage loss, trip cancellation or an accident. There are many choices for travel/trip insurance that will insure your trip against almost ANY form of cancellation. We do not sell travel insurance, however we do have good experience in dealing with CSA travel insurance and offer their services for OUR trips at the following website: We recommend: www.CSATravelPro.com/83332891

A Note About Your Expedition & Mother Nature

Please keep in mind that your expedition is just that, an expedition into the remote Baja wilderness. Our daily itinerary is flexible allowing us the opportunity to take advantage of any unexpected wildlife or natural history encounters. While we make every effort to stick to our daily itinerary, unexpected delays may result due to any number of circumstances, such as bad weather or mechanical failures ... all of which are very possible with adventure travel in remote areas such as Baja. Keep a flexible attitude and open spirit and you will be rewarded with the wildlife encounter and adventure of a lifetime.
